How to Install Claude for Chrome

A quick-start guide to installing Anthropic's official Claude browser extension and getting it ready to use.

What you need

Google Chrome on a desktop computer and a paid Claude plan. Anthropic states that Claude in Chrome is available on paid plans. The extension is not supported on mobile devices or other Chromium-based browsers.

This guide uses the official Claude extension published by Anthropic in the Chrome Web Store.

Install Claude for Chrome

Installation is handled directly through the Chrome Web Store. There are no ZIP files to extract and Developer Mode is not required.

1

Open the Official Claude Extension Page

In Google Chrome, open the official Claude listing in the Chrome Web Store. Confirm that the extension is Claude and the developer is Anthropic.

2

Add Claude to Chrome

Click the installation button shown on the Chrome Web Store page. Chrome may display a confirmation window explaining the permissions requested by the extension. Review the prompt and confirm the installation.

3

Wait for Chrome to Finish

Chrome will download and install the extension automatically. Once installation is complete, Claude will be available through Chrome.

Official extension

Use the official Chrome Web Store listing supplied with this product. The listing identifies Anthropic as the developer.

Sign In and Get Started

4

Open Claude in Chrome

Open the Claude side panel from Chrome. If you do not immediately see Claude, open Chrome's Extensions menu using the puzzle-piece icon and select Claude.

5

Sign In

Sign in using your Claude account credentials. According to Anthropic's setup instructions, Claude in Chrome requires a paid Claude plan.

6

Grant Permissions When Prompted

Claude needs permission to interact with websites you want it to work with. Approve the requested site permissions as they appear. Read each prompt before granting access.

Keep Claude Easy to Access

You can pin Claude to Chrome's toolbar so it is available whenever you need it.

7

Open the Extensions Menu

Click the puzzle-piece Extensions icon near the upper-right corner of Chrome.

8

Pin Claude

Find Claude in the extension list and click the pin icon beside it. Claude will remain accessible from the Chrome toolbar.

Using Claude in Chrome

Open the Claude side panel while you are on the page you want to work with. Describe what you want Claude to do. The extension can read and interact with approved webpages, including clicking, typing, navigating, and filling forms while you supervise the work.

Stay in control

Only grant Claude access to sites you intend it to work with. Anthropic recommends reading permission prompts and starting on sites you know.
