Sneaky Referral Scripts

Quiet Referral Check-In Email

SUBJECT: Quick question, [Name]

Hello [Name],

I'm glad to see the [specific result] we achieved is still helping your team.

Because businesses similar to yours face the same challenge, I'm putting together a short "what worked" summary to share with a few owners who might benefit.

If someone in your circle could use the same lift, feel free to hit reply with their first name (or just "yes") and I'll send you the summary to pass along. No pressure...

Just looking to help other owners you trust.

Thanks again for choosing to work with me.

“Help Me Prioritize” Call Script

SUBJECT: Can you help me real quick?

“Hi [Name], got a minute?

I’m mapping out my calendar for next quarter and want to focus on projects where we can deliver wins like we did for you, fast and measurable.

Two quick favors, if you’re comfortable:

1. A one-sentence comment I can quote about our work together (I can draft it for you to tweak).
2. Any business owners you respect who might benefit from the same results. No hard sell, just an intro so I can see if there’s a fit.

Absolutely fine if nothing comes to mind. Your insight will help me keep improving.”

Shall I add you to the beta list?
